

Welcome

At UCLA, you have a team working to see you and your loved ones through your diagnosis, treatment, recovery, and beyond. You receive individualized treatment with approaches that integrate mind and body healing, at one of the nation's leading cancer centers.

Our Treatment Approach

Our specialized physicians who are leading the country in cancer research deliver compassionate and individualized treatment for all types of cancer.

Our Research & Discovery

Many of the treatment discoveries that have been made at UCLA have been adopted worldwide and have revolutionized the way cancer is treated.

Our Approach to Mind-Body Care

Best results are achieved by treating mind and body as one. Our social workers, psychologists, nutritionists and physicians who specialize in East-West medicine and holistic approaches are available to you and your loved ones. You are not alone...

Lung Cancer

Pancreatic Cancer

Cancer Reseracher Receives Prestigious Scheele Award

Dr. Dennis Slamon, whose basic and clinical research led to the development of a new targeted therapy for breast cancer, has been awarded the prestigious Scheele Award in honor of his work.

November 18 – Colon Cancer 101

UCLA oncologist Shahryar Ashouri, M.D., will focus on screening, prevention and treatment for colon cancer. Mary Hardy, M.D., integrative and internal medicine, will explore how to choose foods and supplements for cancer prevention or to enhance wellness during treatment. 7:00pm - 8:30pm Social Hall, The Santa Monica Synagogue at 1448 18th Street in Santa Monica. To RSVP, please call (800) 516-5323.

Colon Cancer Screening More Effective Earlier in Day, Study Finds

State awards $49.2 million to UCLA stem cell scientists to develop new therapies for disease

National Media Cover Colonoscopy Study

A new UCLA/VA study reported that early-morning colonoscopies yielded more polyps per patient than later cases. The findings point to the need for more research in this area to possibly improve outcomes for colonoscopy procedures.

"Should You get a Colonoscopy Early in the Day"

"Early Morning Colon Cancer Tests work Best"

"Cancer Screening Smackdown Continues: Pap Smears and Colonoscopies Take a Hit"

"Early Morning Colonoscopies may Find more Polyps"

Geriatrician Pens Column on Colon Cancer Screening

The November 19, Santa Monica Mirror published a guest column by Dr. James Davis, UCLA Geriatrician, on colon cancer screening.

"A Closer Look at Colon Cancer Screening"

UPI, Trade Publications, Online Media Feature Ovarian Cancer Study

A study by Dr. Gottfried Konecny showed a leukemia drug had promising activity in ovarian cancer cells.

"Leukemia Med May also Fight Ovarian Cancer"

"UCLA Researchers Significantly Inhibit Growth of Ovarian Cancer Cell Lines"

"Leukemia Drug May Help Some Ovarian Cancer Patients"

"Drug Testing Proves Useful for Ovarian Cancer Patients"

New York Times Reports on Colonoscopy Study

The New York Times on November 17 covered a UCLA/VA study reporting that early-morning colonoscopies yielded more polyps per patient than later cases. The findings point to the need for more research in this area to possibly improve outcomes for colonoscopy procedure.

"Screening: One More Reason to get up Early"

Dr. Lauren Pinter-Brown was quoted November 16 in a Los Angeles Times column about the accuracy of a television drama's portrayal of treatment for non-Hodgkin's lymphoma

"Brothers and Sisters: Misguided Cancer Treatment Plan"

Breast Imaging Expert Talks About Screening on KPCC

Dr. Nanette De Bruhl was a guest November 17 on Pat Morrison's show on KPCC 89.3FM. The topic was the revised guidelines for breast screening using mammography.